Hi Nick here,

Today we are going to talk about the richest known source of natural vitamin c that you can get.

And that is the Kakadu plum

As you might already know Vitamin C is an essential vitamin, what this means is that our body needs lots of it to help in the growth, development, and repair of all body tissues.

The tricky thing here is that the body doesn't produce vitamin c and since they are water-soluble vitamins they get out of our systems within 24hours.

This also means that we have to rely on external sources like fruits and vegetables to get our daily dose of vitamin c.

However, eating lots of fruits and vegetables can leave you feeling bloated and uneasy.

This is where the Kakadu Plum Powder comes in, the Kakadu plum powder is derived from a superfood (the kakadu plum) which has the highest amount of vitamin C known to humankind.

A bit about the kakadu plum...

The Kakadu plum is an indigenous fruit to Australia and it has numerous health benefits these includes but are not limited to:

- collagen regeneration
- Decrease the risk of heart disease
- Boosts immune system
- And lots more.

The kakadu plum powder is our most recent product and we are excited to share it with you.

Who is this for?

If you are looking to reduce the effects of aging and get clearer skin then this is for you, the collagen regeneration properties of vitamin c are contained in vast amounts in the kakadu plum powder.

It is also for those who are looking to strengthen their immune system, the rich properties and antioxidants contained in the Kakadu plum will aid you in this.

We could try to mention all the benefits of the kakadu plum here but that would make this email too long.
